UM FOOTBALL TEAM HOLDS
INTRASQUAD BATTLE IN BUTTE

Information Services • University of Montana • Missoula, Montana 59801 • (406) 243-2522

MISSOULA--

Friday night the University of Montana spring football team will be in Butte for an intrasquad clash that will pit the first team offensive and defensive units against the rest of the 'Grizzly' hopefuls.

With only one week of drills left after the battle in the mining city, this will be one of the last chances for those who do not have a starting position to prove that they are indeed deserving of a starting berth.

Spring football will come to an end on the University of Montana campus May 6 when the squad will be divided evenly for the traditional intrasquad game at Dornblaser Stadium.

In last Saturday's morning scrimmage several individuals performed exceedingly well. John Stark, who has outstanding quickness, and Dave Manovich, a strong blocker and fine pass receiver, distinguished themselves in the offensive backfield with standout efforts.

Tom Bodwell, who is regarded as a good blocker and an excellent receiver by the Montana coaching staff at his tight end position, had a good day as did Ron Rosenberg in his middle linebacker slot. Rosenberg is a sophomore from Whitefish and has all the equipment to be a great one backing up the Grizzly defensive middle. He stands 6-3, weighs 220 and has the quickness to follow the flow of the offense to the outside.

Montana has three men in the running for the starting position at quarterback and the three will split the quarterback duties for both teams Friday night. Those vying for the position as director of the "Wishbone" attack UM employs are Jay Baumberger, a junior from Great Falls; Tim Babish, a junior transfer from Citrus College in California; and Rock Svennugsen, a sophomore from Snelby.

Svennugsen performed particularly well in Saturday's scrimmage and Baumberger drew praise from the Grizzly coaches for his passing. Montana is expected to put the ball in the air more in 1972 than in 1971 as all three quarterbacks have good throwing arms.
